1. General Statement of policy

Autism Berkshire believes that equal opportunities are very important for our charity. We need to make sure that we are being equal wherever possible. This means making sure it happens, not just writing policies. There are always new ideas on discrimination to be explored. There are going to be new forms of oppression to be challenged. To meet these challenges, we aim to develop a learning organisation. All people need to feel free to talk about issues of equality. We will have good training and be learning from each other. We will monitor what happens carefully. People will have freedom to admit mistakes and to celebrate successes.

There are lots of sorts of unfair discrimination. It may be direct and based on prejudice. It may be based on lack of awareness and understanding. It may be something that is seen as 'normal' in some organisations.

We are opposed to all these types of discrimination. We will seek to ensure that in all our activities, we do not take discriminate unfairly against individuals or groups for any of the following reasons:

- gender*
- age*
- social and economic class
- employment status
- HIV status
- physical or mental disability*
- political belief
- religion or belief*
- gender reassignment*
- race*, colour, nationality or national origin
- marriage, civil partnership or parental status*

- sexual orientation*
- unrelated criminal conviction
- position as a carer
- status as a refugee/asylum seeker
- pregnancy and maternity*

Some of this list are Equality Act 2010 characteristics. They are marked with an *. These are 'protected characteristics'.

People must also not be discriminated against because of someone they know who has a protected characteristic. Nor because they are perceived to have a protected characteristic. For example, someone who is treated unfairly because they have a gay child, or because someone thinks the person is autistic (even if they are not).

We do not allow Political beliefs in our charity which promote prejudice and discrimination.

If someone has 'unspent criminal convictions', the Trustees can decide whether this is relevant to our work.

All personnel must work to stop unfair discrimination in our charity. We want to create a welcoming, positive and safe working environment for everyone.

Users of the charity's services must respect the values in this statement. Some people may not know much about equal opportunities. They may need chances to learn. Any behaviour that is discriminatory is a serious breach of this policy, and will need something done to solve it.

Autism Berkshire will take positive action to help stop discrimination. We will promote diversity. We will allow everyone the chance to use their skills for our work.

2. Delivery of service to users

The 'service users' of Autism Berkshire include all members of the public who use our services. It also includes people working with us from the voluntary and the public sector, and our volunteers and trustees. We will:

- (i) treat everyone who has contact with the organisation for whatever reason with dignity and courtesy.
- (ii) plan the services in a way that is fair for people with any protected characteristic. In particular we will plan what disabled people with a range of impairments might reasonably need. We will then make reasonable adjustments.
- (iii) find out what services are required by different sections of the community.
- (iv) seek to give good information and support to individuals, groups and organisations in communities which experience greater discrimination and social exclusion
- (v) not permit discriminatory advertisements or news items to appear on our publications.
- (vi) make sure that these are accessible to a wide range of individuals and communities: Meetings, literature, website, publicity, training events and all other forms of communication.
- (vii) publicise our Complaints Procedure. This is available for use by any service user who may have experienced discrimination from our charity in some way.

(ii) Any member of staff who feels they have been subjected to harassment should tell us. They can do so informally with a senior member of staff, or through the grievance process.

(iii) Employees will not be badly treated because of making a complaint or raised a grievance under the Equality Act 2010. For example being denied a training opportunity or a promotion. This applies to situations where people just suspect someone has made a complaint, too.

(iv) Autism Berkshire considers harassment to be a disciplinary offence.
